

Dr Yahia Badir

Thesis title: Third parties in administrative law - a comparative study

Abstract

Prepare third party in the field of law, every natural or legal person who is alien to a particular legal status is not bound by any association with the latter, yet he may interact with them and interfere with those who are foreign to him in the field of disputes, so as to obtain the status of the party.

And constitute third party in the field of administrative law two categories, the category of pure third party and the category of interested third party, and the pure third party is completely away from the legal relationship, which is the subject of administrative decision or administrative contract and will intervene only in the domain of disputes, while the interested third party intervenes at one stage of life of this relationship, Intervenes in the domain of disputes. In general, the intervention of each of the third parties is one of the distinctions between them, as well as the different means of intervention that each of them.

key words: third party- civil law- administrative law- Administrative judge- pure third party- interested third party- administrative decision- administrative contract- quality- Interest